Alma Mater Dear Old NCC

The sloping hills, the verdant green,
The lovely blossoms' beauteous sheen,
Surround our college proud and gay,
Where wave our color, Maroon and Gray.
What matters it how far we roam,
Our thoughts will oft return to home,
And hearts will e'er be true to thee,
Our Alma Mater, NCC.

We've gathered here to fit our lives,
As from the darkness light revives,
So let us hail, both night and day,
Our glorious colors, Maroon and Gray.
We'll ever love and honor thee,
For thou hast taught us loyalty.
Then let our watchword "Service" be
To Alma Mater, NCC.

You send us forth with hearts of love,
So like a blessing from above,
And from the path we'll never stray,
Our dear Alma Mater, Maroon and Gray.
We'll work and fight, we'll win our way.
When duty calls, we shall obey,
And may we e'er return to thee,
Our Alma Mater, NCC.

CHORUS

Then Rah! Rah! Rah! for our colors so gay, Dear Old NCC's Maroon and Gray. Thy Sons and Daughters will honor thee, Dear Old NCC.

DEDICATION

North Carolina Central University alumnus Bishop Eddie L. Long is senior pastor of New Birth Missionary Baptist Church in Lithonia, Georgia, and has served in that capacity since 1987. His sermons are widely televised on the Trinity Broadcasting Network, ABC, BET, as well as international outlets.

Long earned a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration at NCCU and a master's of Divinity Degree from Atlanta's Interdenominational Theological Center. The Full Gospel Baptist Church Fellowship ordained Long as bishop on January 12, 1994.

Long serves a member of the NCCU Board of Trustees, is vice chair of the Morehouse School of Religion Board of Directors, and is member of the Board of Visitors for Emory University. His commitment to education has been recognized with honorary doctorates from NCCU, Morehouse School of Religion, and Beulah Heights Bible College of Atlanta, where he taught several courses.

During his tenure as pastor of New Birth Missionary Baptist Church, membership has grown from 300 in 1987 to more than 25,000 today. Beginning with a 500-seat chapel in 1987, under Long's leadership, the church has grown to include a new sanctuary, complex, and Family Life Center with a combined seating capacity of 18,700.

Long is a published author of five books concerning our relationships to each other and to God, and he is an enterpreneur owning several businesses.

He is the recipient of numerous awards, most honoring his work to empower the African American community. Just this year, Long received the Gospel Heritage Achievement Award for his support of the African American community.

Bishop Long and his wife, Vanessa, are the proud parents of four children: Eric, Edward, Jared, and Taylor. The couple has offered themselves as surrogate parents for many other children in the church and community as well.

Dr. James H. Ammons

Dear Students:

As always, it is an honor to address the students of North Carolina Central University as we approach the end of another year. I have had the opportunity to meet many of you through your activities and other campus encounters. You are a fine group of students with great potential.

We have had a very exciting year. I am extremely proud of the 1,200 students that turned out for early voting for the 2004 presidential election. They demonstrated a commitment and determination to make a difference in their lives, their community and nation.

To the graduating classes of 2004-2005, you have achieved one of the most important milestones in your life. The founder of this great institution, Dr. James E. Shepard, said, "Men are not merely great for what they have become, but also for what they may become." I am confident that NCCU has equipped you with the necessary skills to go out into the world and make a positive impact.

We know that each of you is proud of your alma mater. It is here on the sloping hills and verdant green that you found your life's path, met a friend for life, discovered a new talent and found a hidden passion. Take the special things you have learned to make your career goals a reality.

As you embark on your future endeavors, promote your alma mater; continue to serve humanity and work hard to make your dreams come true. I wish you much success. We know that you will keep NCCU in your heart as we have held you in ours.

Sincerely,

James H. Ammons

G-Editor Gin Chief

It is my pleasure to assist in the production of the 2004-2005 North Carolina Central University Eagle Yearbook. The yearbook's purpose is to capture all of the memorable moments that took place during this academic year. Our goal was to develop a yearbook that would clearly represent the exceptional life at NCCU. When I accepted the position of Editor-in-Chief, I had no idea where to start as I had never before worked on a yearbook. There were many times when I wanted to give up, but I knew that it was my responsibility to complete it. There is one word that states what a yearbook consists of... that word is TEAMWORK!

Production of a yearbook is a lot of work and is stressful for any one person who is a full-time student. It is of paramount importance to have a group of motivated individuals working together to get the job done. What would a yearbook be without artists and writers? Nothing. Who would want to look at it if all the photos were bad or if we only had a few? No one. Who would want to read it if there were several punctuated and grammatical errors? No one. Everyone has different ideas and skills. As a group we combined them all to produce this magnificent piece of art, literature and history. The yearbook staff worked hard to develop the kind of yearbook we would all want to have in remembrance of all the memories that took place during this academic year.

First, I would like to thank God for all he has given to me. To my family and friends, I thank them for the love and support. I would also like to extend my gratitude to the yearbook staff. Without its hard work and dedication this book would not have been completed. Dr. Melvin Carver presented me with this opportunity and I would like to thank him. In the Department of English, Dr. Janice Dargan was willing to give her time to help edit the text in the yearbook. In the Public Relations office, Mrs. Erica King was always there when I needed help with the layout. I would also like to thank Ms. Annie Bennett of Department of Art, Mr. Kyle Serba of Athletics, and Mr. Robert Lawson of Public Relations. Last but not least, I would like to thank the Department of Art for providing us with helping hands and supplies. All of YOU made this possible... Now you know why I say TEAMWORK!!!

9-Editor on in Chief

To my fellow Eagles,

I would like to take this opportunity to express my full gratitude to

North Carolina Central University. During my matriculation at NCCU, I have been provided the essential foundation and skills to successfully thrive in this world. For that opportunity I am forever grateful. My experience as yearbook editor has been more than rewarding, because I have been able to work with the university officials and students. Students in the past as well as in the present and the future are the ones who will leave their legacy, their own personal mark on this University. It has been my pleasure to continue a legacy at NCCU through the 2004-2005 Eagle Yearbook. I would also like to take this opportunity to give great thanks to the yearbook staff for their hard work and dedication.

MISS NCCU

Dear Eagle Family,

It has been my esteemed honor to serve you as Miss North Carolina Central University. Accepting this reign was more than following a beauty queen stereotype. It has meant more to me than all the crowns and sashes that one could ever offer. I gave you my hard work, dedication and desire to make a difference on this campus. I offered you everything I could but most importantly, you accepted everything I had to offer.

Words cannot explain my passion for this university and my Eagle family. You have made my reign an unforgettable one. You have given me the reassurance that being the best is all I need. You have given me more than I could ever ask for. I thank you Eagle family. I love you Eagle family.

The years I have spent at this university have more than prepared me intellectually, I have grown spiritually as well. I've learned that I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me. The same holds true for you Eagles. Everything you endeavor to do in your life shall be done according to your faith. So I challenge you Eagle family, to take the education you have received here and put the world on notice. We're soaring and cannot be stopped.

Eagles I ask you to make this promise with me. Upon our departure from this university, we will remain Eagles at heart. We will exemplify the creed of our founder, truth and service, throughout our lives. We will always remember that an "Eagle is no common ordinary barn yard fowl." We do soar higher than the rest.

TENNIS

The 1992-93 year proved to be another great year for the NCCU Tennis Team. The team, under the guidance of Coach Curtis Lawson and Assistant Coach James Robbins, finished the season fourth in the CIAA, and second in the Southern Division. Despite various injuries and lack of depth the Eagle Tennis Team displayed hustle and effort while still maintaining the Eagle Pride. After a shaky start, the team came together as a unit and became a feared forced in the CIAA. After proving to competitors on the court and in the classroom, the Tennis Team showed that they are winners on and off the court and that "THEY WILL BE BACK."

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

During the 1992-93 women's basketball season there was a little talk of a national championship or even a CIAA Conference title. Due to injuries early in the season to some key players, the Lady Eagles fell short of their goal which was to improve on their weaknesses. After finishing 5-18 overall and 5-14 in the CIAA, the Lady Eagles hope to have returning to the squad M. Stewart who is a two-time ALL-CIAA selection who averaged 15.7 ppg and 6.9 rebounds a game while CIAA ROOKIE OF THE YEAR, S. Moorman, who averaged 12.0 ppg and 8.4 rebounds a game.

VOLLEYBALL

The 91-93 Lady Eagles Volleyball team was a young team but hard working. Our Lady Eagles season started out by being ranked fifth in the preseason polls. In the first few games the squad proved they were young in age but not in heart, body, and soul. The team finished second in the Southern Division behind St. Augustine's College.

AND LET THE LIGHT SHINE ON THE FIELD!!!!

In 91-92 the NCCU Football Team ended the season with a overall record of three wins and eight losses. Our Eagles suffered a devastating losses to NC A&T and South Carolina State. Many times during the 92-93 season, there seemed to be no light at the end of the Eagles tunnel. The Eagles started freshman quarterback Brad McAdams who finished with an impressive rookie year. McAdams who threw for over 1,000 yards and ten touchdowns was just getting started. But, many felt that the returning junior running back Joe Simmons was the eagles savior. Simmons who ran for over 525 yards and five touchdowns is close to setting or breaking records for NCCU.

HOOP SQUAD/EAGLE STORM

The Eagle Basketball team went on a rampage winning the first seventeen games they played. They suffered their first and worst defeat 106-81 to Johnson C. Smith. The Eagles won their next two games. They journeyed to Virginia Union who handed them a 63-73 loss in OT. With the regular season closing the Eagles took a trip south to show no school was safe from the Eagle Storm by defeating Clark Atlanta. By the end of the regular season the Eagles clinched the Southern Division title and were waiting for the CIAA tournament to start so they could face Northern Division champs Virginia Union.

Once the tournament started fans in Richmond and Durham could not wait to see the game "But everyone forgot that both schools are Black Schools. Therefore, the game was not televised."

NCCU'S ENROLLMENT REACHES ALL-TIME HIGH

North Carolina Central University's enrollment hit an all-time high this fall with officials enrolling 7,727 students for the 2004-2005 academic year. Last year, onrollment totaled 7,191. The university received a 5.5 % increase in the number of applicants as compared to last year and enrolled 1,168 freshmen, exceeding last year's freshman enrollment of 1,053.In addition, NCCU has recruited 13 National Achievement Scholars for fall 2004. Eleven finalists and two semifinalists will join the ranks of NCCU's Eagles this fall. Five other students have SAT scores of 1300 or botter and six students were recruited from the North Carolina School of Science and Mathematics.

The Commission on Accreditation (COA) of the Council on Social Work Education reviewed the baccalaureate degree program in social work (BSW) at North Carolina Central University and voted to grant full, re-accreditation for the maximum eight-year cycle until the year 2011. In 1999, NCCU's undergraduate program in social work received its initial four-year accreditation. With that success came an increase in enrollment that altered the faculty student ratio required for the maintenance of accredited status. Enrollment grew from 52 majors in 1998 – 1999 to 140 in 2002 – 2003. The University responded by allocating a new tenure tract position to the social work program in January of 2004. At its June 2004 meeting, the Commission on Accreditation re-accredited the Social Work Program for the maximum eight-year cycle.

The Intercollegiate Music Association (IMA) scheduled its 45th Annual Conference on the campus of North Carolina Central University (NCCU) from February 10 through February 12, 2005. Students and faculty from historically black colleges and universities united for workshops, performance clinics, and concerts. The Intercollegiate Music Association was founded in 1961 as a vehicle for enriching and enhancing the development of the students of its member institutions.

DURHAM, N.C. — North Carolina Central University (NCCU) hosted the Regional Science Bowl for the 11th year on Saturday, January 29, 2005 at 9 a.m. in the Criminal Justice Building Auditorium on NCCU's campus. Sponsored by the U.S. Department of Energy, the science bowl competition is designed to encourage high school students from across the nation to excel in math and science and to pursue careers in those fields, especially those among underrepresented populations.

"Skee- Wee" since 1908

In 1908, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority became America's first Greek-letter organization established by Black college women. The sorority roots date back to Howard University, in Washington D.C. Ethel Hedgeman Lyle of St. Louis, Missouri conceived the idea for the sorority formation. She viewed the Sorority as an instrument for enriching the social and intellectual aspects of college life by providing mental stimulation through interaction with friends and associates. Through the years, however, Alpha Kappa Alpha's function has become more complex. After her incorporation as a perpetual body in 1913, Alpha Kappa Alpha gradually branched out and became the channel through which selected college trained women improved the socioeconomic conditions in their city, state, nation, and the world.

Alpha Kappa Alpha is a sisterhood composed of women who have consciously chosen this affiliation as a means of self-fulfillment through volunteer service. Alpha Kappa Alpha cultivates and encourages high scholastic and ethical standards, promotes unity and friendship among college women, alleviates problems concerning girls and women, maintains a progressive interest in college life, and serves all mankind through a nucleus of more than 170,000 women in the United States, the Caribbean, Europe, and Africa.

Candidacy for membership into Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority is open to women of high ethical and scholastic standards and who are pursuing or have completed courses leading to a degree at an accredited college or university. The official headquarters is in Chicago. Illinois.

Gamma Beta Chapter

Since its founding on December 4, 1996, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. Has supplied voice and vision to the struggle of African-American and people of color around the world.

Alpha Phi Alpha, the first intercollegiate Greek-letter fraternity established for African Americans, was founded at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York by seven college men who recognized the need for a strong bond of brotherhood among African descendants in this country. The visionary founders, known as "Jewels" of the fraternity, were Henry Arthur Callis, Charles Henry Chapman, Eugene Kinckle Jones, George Biddle Kelley, Nathaniel Allison Murray, Robert Harold Ogle, and Vertner Woodson Tandy.

The Fraternity initially served as a study and support group for minority students who faced racial prejudice, both educationally and socially, at Cornell. The Jewel founders and early leaders of the Fraternity succeeded in laying a firm foundation for Alpha Phi Alpha's principles of scholarship, fellowship, good character, and the uplifting of humanity.

Alpha Phi Alpha chapters were developed at other colleges and universities, many of them historically black institutions, soon after the founding at Cornell. While continuing to stress academic excellence among its members, Alpha also recognized the need to help correct the educational, economic, political, and social injustices faced by African-Americans.

Alpha Phi Alpha has long stood at the forefront of the African-American community's fight for civil rights through leaders such as: W.E.B DuBois, Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., Edward Brooke, Martin Luther King, Jr., Thurgood Marshall, Andrew Young, William Gray, Paul Robeson, and many others

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority was founded in 1913 by twenty-two students at Howard University. These young women used their collective strength to promote academic excellence, provide scholarships, support the undeserved, educate and stimulate participation in the establishment of positive public policy, and to highlight issues and provide solutions for problems in their communities. The organizational structure and governance of the Sorority is invested in the Grand Chapter, which meets at National Convention biennially.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc. is a private non-profit organization whose purpose is to provide assistance and support through programs in local communities throughout the world. A sisterhood of more than 200,000 predominately Black college educated women, the sorority currently has over 900 chapters located in the United States, England, Japan (Tokyo and Okinawa), Germany, the Virgin Islands, Bermuda, the Bahamas, and the Republic of Korea. The major programs of the sorority are based upon the organization's Five Point Thrust of:

Economic Development
Educational Development
International Awareness and Involvement
Physical and Mental Health
Political Awareness and Involvement

TE AND THE

"Yo-Yo" since 1911

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity was formed the night of January 5, 1911, on the campus of Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana. The fraternity is enjoyed by college men everywhere, regardless of their color, religion, or national origin. Kappa Alpha Psi is proud that its Constitution has never contained any clause which either excluded or suggested the exclusion of a man from membership merely because of his color, creed, or national origin. The Constitution of Kappa Alpha Psi is predicated upon, and dedicated to, the principles of achievement through a truly democratic fraternity.

Chartered and incorporated originally under the laws of the State of Indiana as Kappa Alpha Nu on May 15, 1911, the name was changed to Kappa Alpha Psi on a resolution offered and adopted at the Grand Chapter in December 1914. This change became effective April 15, 1915, on a proclamation by the then Grand Polemarch, Elder Watson Diggs. Thus, the name acquired a distinctive Greek letter symbol and Kappa Alpha Psi thereby became a Greek letter fraternity in every sense of the designation.

From its inception, and for the next six years, Brother Diggs served as the Grand Polemarch of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. Through his leadership and indefatigable application, aided by the efforts of B.K Armstrong, and John M. Lee, who comprised the remainder of the original Grand Board of Directors, the Fraternity was guided through the most perilous years of its life. These three men became a credit to the organization's survival.

Mission Statement: Kappa Kappa Psi operates primarily as a student service and leadership recognition society whose chief aim is to assist the Band Directors in developing the leadership and enthusiasm that are required within the band. The Chapter goals are to provide the band not only with organized and concentrated service activities but to give the membership valid and wholesome experiences in organization, leadership, and social contacts. The membership is based on the premise that it is an honor to be selected to serve this band, its department of music, its sponsoring institution, and the cause of band music in the nation's colleges and universities.

National/Local History: The National Fraternity was established by Bohumil Maskovsky on November 27, 1919, on the campus of Oklahoma A&M College, (now Oklahoma State University). The Zeta Sigma Chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi was founded on February 9, 1974 by Willie J. Williams.

O TO

"Roo" since 1911

On Friday evening, November 17, 1911, three Howard University undergraduate students, with the assistance of their faculty advisor, gave birth to the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. This event occurred in the office of biology Professor Ernest E. Just, the faculty advisor, in the Science Hall (now known as Thirkield Hall). The three liberal arts students were Edgar A. Love, Oscar J. Cooper and Frank Coleman. From the initials of the Greek phrase meaning "friendship is essential to the soul," the name Omega Psi Phi was derived. The phrase was selected as the motto. Manhood, scholarship, perseverance, and uplift were adopted as cardinal principles. A decision was made regarding the design for the pin and emblem at the first meeting of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

The next meeting was conducted on November 23, 1911. Edgar Love became the first Grand Basileus (National President). Cooper and Coleman were selected Grandkeeper of the Records (National Secretary) and Grandkeeper of Seals (National Treasurer), respectively. Eleven Howard University undergraduate men were selected as charter members.

Alpha Chapter was organized with fourteen charter members on December 15, 1911. Love, Cooper and Coleman were elected the chapter's first Basileus, Keeper of Records, and Keeper of Seals respectively.

Currently, Omega Psi Phi has initiated more than 130,000 members and has over 500 chapters in forty-four states, the District of Columbia, Europe, Asia, Africa, the Bahamas, Virgin Islands, and Panama. Tau Psi Chapter on NCCU's campus is a vital force which enables and inspires the maximum accomplishment of its members.

"Blue-Phi" since 1914

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. was founded at Howard University in Washington, D.C., January 9, 1914, by three young African-American male students. The founders, Honorable A. Langston Taylor, Honorable Leonard F. Morse, and Honorable Charles I. Brown, organized a Greek letter fraternity that would truly exemplify the ideals of brotherhood, scholarship, and service.

The founders created an organization that viewed itself as "a part of" the general community rather than "apart from" the general community. They believed that each potential member should be judged by his own merits rather than his family background or affluence... without regard of race, nationality skin tone or texture of hair. The fraternity exists today as part of an even greater brotherhood which would be devoted to the "inclusive we" rather than the "exclusive we."

From its inception, the founders also conceived Phi Beta Sigma as a mechanism to deliver services to the general community. Rather than gaining skills to be utilized exclusively for themselves and their immediate families, the founders of Phi Beta Sigma held a deep conviction that they would return their newly acquired skills to the communities from which they had come. This deep conviction was mirrored in the fraternity's motto, "Culture For Service and Service For Humanity."

Today, more than ninety years later. Phi Beta Sigma has blossomed into an international organization of leaders. No longer a single entity, the fraternity has now established the Phi Beta Sigma Educational Foundation, the Phi Beta Sigma Housing Foundation, the Phi Beta Sigma Federal Credit Union, and the Phi Beta Sigma Charitable Outreach Foundation. Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. founded in 1920 with the assistance of Phi Beta Sigma, is the sister organization. No other fraternity and sorority are constitutionally bound as Sigma and Zeta. We both enjoy and foster a mutually supportive relationship.

"T-B" since 1946

Tau Beta Sigma National Honorary Band Sorority provides service to collegiate bands, encourages the advancement of women in the band profession, and promotes and enriches an appreciation of band music through recognition, leadership development, and education of its members.

The National Chapter was founded by Wava Banes Henry on March 26, 1946 at Oklahoma State University . The Epsilon Lambda Chapter of Tau Beta Sigma was chartered on the campus of North Carolina Central University on February 9, 1974 by Janet Washington.

"Z- Phi" since 1920

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority began January 16, 1920, on the belief that sorority elitism and socializing should not overshadow the real mission of a progressive organization. Zeta Phi Beta addresses societal mores, ills, prejudices, poverty and health concerns. The sorority was conceived by five coeds at Howard University. The women were Arizona Cleaver, Myrtle Tyler, Viola Tyler, Frannie Pettie, and Pearl Neal. These women, known in the sorority as the five pearls, dared to depart from the traditional coalitions for black women. The sorority was predicated on the precepts of scholarship, service, sisterly love, and finer womanhood. It was the idea of the founders that the sorority would reach college women in all parts of the country who were sorority minded and desired to follow the founding principle of the organization. Viola Tyler was often quoted..."In the ideal collegiate situation there is Zeta in a girl regardless of race, creed, or color, who has high standards and principles. She has a good scholarly average and an active interest in all things that she undertakes to accomplish."

A Message from our President

I owe a heavy debt to this University. It is a debt too enormous to be accorded a price. No monetary sum or material thing could satisfy this debt, for it requires a different, more genuine type of repayment. The only way I can settle this debt is through service.

North Carolina Central University has done much to build me up. The University is nestled in a climate which cultivates and nurtures its students. Every part of this campus—the administrators, professors, and faculty—coalesce to sculpt students into critical thinkers, leaders, and better human beings. Consequently, I have undergone tremendous and invaluable growth. This is why I am indebted to this institution.

Service is the crux of this University. There is no greater gift than one's own time, energy, and ingenuity. My service as Student Government Association President was the means through which I was able to give back to the University what it so selflessly gave to me. However, the SGA presidency was only the beginning; indeed, I have enjoyed my presidency, but I will continue to render my service well after my tenure is over.

Every student here owes something to the University. In some way or another, this institution has served to improve us mentally, spiritually, and socially. Therefore, we cannot let the investment that North Carolina Central University has made in us be in vain and go without a return. A lifetime of service to the world and humanity will ultimately settle all of our debts to this great institution.

His feverite crass to leave it service seminar because it gives him the chance to share African American perspectives of criminal justice. He also acknowledges that instruction in his class assaist students in preparing for the real world. Wilson's philosophy for teaching is "all students are learn; but need different motivations to get them to do their bust. I try to be firm and lair, KNOW as much as I can about 'sell' and society through reading, and DO what I can to avoid at cuses for not reaching my upole." Wilson states that the difference in students from the pagitant the students from the present since teaching at NCCU is that students today think that they know more but lack experience. Past students did not think they knew everything and were willing to learn. His most memorable experience at NCCU is posting students to do more than they trink they can do in education and in jobs, and then for them to return to NCCU and say they succeeded. Wilson has really enjoyed teaching and trying to inform students foday of things he has learned so they will be better prepared for the future. These include investing in themselves and in communities—politically, and economically. Also, he wents to give them an understanding of why they should reach back and help someone else.

Justice

Chair: Dr. Harvey McMurray

The Criminal Justice program was created in 1975 and is one of the largest at NCCU. Students are required to take courses providing a comprehensive overview of the Criminal Justice system and select an emphasis area in Law Enforcement, Courts/Law, Corrections/Counseling, or research based on their career or graduate school interests. The Department has approximately 400 undergraduate and graduate students. There are 5 full-time tenure track faculty members with terminal degrees in criminal justice or related fields. The Department has a computer lab and several active student organizations.

Additionally, there are several exciting ongoing programs and projects, such as the Center for Criminal Justice Research and International Initiatives, the Undergraduate Research Program, the Juvenile Justice Institute, and NC-Cop Link Project.

Chair: Dr. Louise C. Maynor

A major in English prepares students for a variety of careers and for continued personal, civic, and professional development. All courses offered through the Department enhance skills in reading, writing, and critical thinking. The Department's offerings and related activities also seek to increase students' understanding of vital cultural and aesthetic achievements of writers throughout the ages.

Description: The Department of History offers a major and minor in history at the baccalaureate level. Students majoring in history must complete a minimum of 42 semester hours of courses beginning at the 2000 level, including at least one seminar in history, and a concentration or double major. The history minor must complete a minimum of 21 semester hours of courses beginning at the 2000 level, including at least one seminar in history. The department also offers certification in secondary social studies. Students seeking teaching certification also must complete a minimum of 42 semester hours and the required education courses. The primary mission of the department is to provide history majors and minors with an educational environment and experiences that will prepare them to teach at the secondary school level, to pursue graduate study, or to find employment in law, government service, industry, and other public and private sectors.

The Department of Human Sciences offers competitive programs

A graduate of Fisk University and University of Michigan, Professor Cheri Harrell, Math Instructor, has taught at NCCU for 19 years. Her favorite class is Algebra and Trigonometry I because it is one of the first math classes that NCCU students take, and it allows her to create a firm foundation for every other math class. She feels that every student can learn mathematics, regardless of his or her preparation. Therefore, she tries to foster an interactive environment in which students feel free to ask questions and fully participate in the learning process. Students in the past seemed to have been more focused in many instances. However, she says there are still some current students who remain committed to being serious scholars.

Description: The Department of Mathematics and Computer Science offers programs of study leading to baccalaureate degrees in mathematics and in computer and information sciences. Academic programs allow considerable flexibility for the student (in consultation with an advisor) to work out a plan of study consistent with the student's career objectives and interests. Programs can be tailored to provide preparation for graduate study, employment in industry or government, and licensure for secondary school teaching. Other programs provide preparation in applications/mathematical programming, and a certificate in computer programming. A minor is available in either mathematics or computer science. The department also offers a graduate program in mathematics leading to the Master of Science degree.

The Department of Music offers a strong, diversified curriculum leading to the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Music degrees in four areas: Music, Music Education with NC State license, Jazz, Sacred Music, and an additional concentration in Music Business. The department also offers a minor in music at the baccalaureate level. The department emphasizes cultural diversity, thorough musical preparation, and professionalism. The curriculum provides a major in music that includes the cultivation of requisite skills, the acquisition of professional knowledge, and the development of aesthetic appreciation with opportunities for undergraduate research. Majors work as interns with professional organizations to prepare them for numerous employment opportunities and for graduate study.

If wake up everyday excited about going to work! Dr. Elwood Robinson attended Pennsylvania State University. He is now a professor of psychology at NGCU Where he has been for all 20 years of his teaching career. Advanced General Psychology is his favorite class because he enjoys watching students grow Mellectually. He works hard to get each student to achieve at his or her highest possible level. Students must first believe in themselves before they can excel academically. "Everyone has the potential for excellence!" He believes that students are much more prepared and meture today as compared to 20 years ago. Additionally, more students are getting involved in research and internship activities. Each day brings a renewed sense of excitement and dedication to his profession. He always enjoys seeing his students graduate each year.

Chair: Dr. Les Brinson

Description: The general goals of the Department of Psychology are to provide students with competencies sufficient to work in a range of human services agencies and/or to succeed in graduate level studies in psychology or in the behavioral sciences. The departmental courses, based upon empirically determined theory, are designed to be dynamic and functional, to give students integrated knowledge concerning learning, development, maturation, and related adaptation processes.

Professor Interview

Professor Canos Murrell is a visiting facturer of Spanish at NCCU. He graduated from Clark Atlanta University, Murrell has been teaching for ten years and at NCCU for two years. His favoritie class to teach is African Hispanilo Literature because it gives him an apportunity to share thoughts on the African Diaspora from a Spanish- speaking perspective. His philosophy of teaching is based upon African principle. This principle is "that I must BE well informed about communal needs, KNOW as much as I can about "stiff" and society through reading; DO what I can to empower the African American Community in these area by a said.

Murrell is encouraged that students over the past 10 years are expecting for language and technology to be integrated in the instructional curriculum. His most memorable experience in teaching students at NCCU was working on the Committee for the Annual Latin American Film Festival.

Chair: Dr. Thomas Hammond

Description: The mission of the Department of Modern Foreign Languages is to provide quality programs and educational activities in the areas of foreign languages, literatures and cultures. The Department attempts to match student career objectives with growing labor force needs. Beyond the intrinsic value of acquiring a second or third language, the Department believes in and promotes the applicability of foreign language study.

Professor Breit W. Hargis In the Department of Theatre altended Appelachian State University and Louisians Technical University. She has been leaching two years with a year at NCCU.

She enjoys lighting design and leaching others about it. So what is her philosophy for teaching? To foster in students a love of learning and to broaden their horzons or at least start them on their way. "The must memorable teaching experience at NCCU was at the end of my first samester of leaching when some of my students came up to ask mile what other classes I taught so they could take them."

Dept.

Chair: Dr. Johnny Alston

Description: The National Award Winning NCCU Department of Theatre has been unique over the years because of the program's capacity to transform a creative notion about the theatre into practical knowledge and skills. North Carolina Central University's Department of Theatre is designed to satisfy the needs of a broad range of enthusiastic students; to give them the widest possible exposure to accomplishments in theatre and to experiences that will develop them as capable theatre practitioners. The most unique aspect of NCCU's Theatre program is the opportunity to choose from seven different theatre concentrations: Theatre Education, Technical Theatre, General Theatre, Performance, Theatre Administration, Theatre Communications and Musical Theatre . The Theatre faculty designed the concentrations because of a growing concern for the future of the majors. Through the practical concentrations, they are being prepared to become theatre teachers, designers and technicians, theatre arts managers, and to work in media.

1993 EAGLE REMINISCE

A beautiful, bright autumn day marked this patriotic event. Bill Clinton and Al Gore, presidential and vice-presidential candidates, and supporters ranging from the very young to the very old came together for a very exciting democratic celebration in North Carolina Central University's Library Bowl. Hyped and truly concerned people patiently awaited the Democratic ticket nominees, Governor Bill Clinton and Senator Al Gore. The wait was much longer than expected, but luckily entertainment was provided by North Carolina Central University's marching band, cheerleaders, jazz band, and others. When all the Democratic candidates arrived, the crowd cheered and those near the candidates were greeted with a handshakes and smiles. When Clinton finally stepped up to the podium, he spoke out about issues such as the treatment of Blacks in America, health care costs, financial aid reform for students, and the job market. Clinton's speech inspired most of the racially mixed crowd comprised of students from NCCU, Duke, and UNC-Chapel Hill.

"We'll rock your world!" was the statement used to describe NCCU's own Sound Machine when they hosted their annual presentation of "In Living Color." Like the real show, "In Living Color" was presented by the band with a series of dramatic performances. Some of the acts were just reenactments from the original show and some of the acts were the result of one-of-a-kind NCCU Sound Machine comedy. Needless to say, all acts were completely and totally hilarious. All of the acts were connected with music provided by a DJ during short intermissions. While the music played, NCCU students truly let their E-FUNK show!

United Northerners In Quest for Unparalled Excellence is a regional organization for students from the Northeast. Its purpose is to create and maintain unity among individuals from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

UNIQUE began with a car wash and followed through with activities such as a pizza party, fund-raisers and the traditional UNIQUE-Metro football game. In addition, UNIQUE took donations for the Hale House located in Harlem, New York where drug addicted and AIDS babies were taken care of by the late Mother Clara Hale.

At the closing of the semester, UNIQUE had its' first annual UNIQUE WEEK on April 12th-17th. During the week, there were vendors and a DJ on the Shepard Student Union patio to resemble that "back home" feeling. The closing of the week featured a party at the union.
